To Transfer Insane Patients.
The unusual spectacle of a special train of crazy people will be witnessed in Missouri on August 12, when 120 patients from the state insane asylum at Fulton are transferred from that city to Farmington. Gov. Dockery has made arrangements with the Chicago & Alton Railroad company to furnish a special train on the above date to convey the insane to the new state asylum at Farmington, which is now ready for occupancy. The patients to be removed originally came from southeast Missouri and consist of 70 men and 50 women. Twenty additional men will be in charge of the railroad of demoted. Only the less dangerous patients will be carried on the special train.

His Life Was Saved.
A small boy was watching workmen lay a composition roof on a new building in Columbia when his hat blew off. In trying to recover the hat he stepped on the composition roof and his feet stuck. He struggled to get his feet out, lost his balance and fell forward and his hands struck. He could not get neither feet nor hands loose and he had to stay on all fours until the workmen got turpentine and dissolved the tar and pulled him loose. He was scared half to death, but not much hurt.

Omitted for the Occasion.
A young negro couple presented themselves the other day to a Paris parson to be married. After performing the ceremony the preacher, who esteems himself somewhat of a joker, remarked: "It is customary for the preacher to kiss the bride, but I will omit that on this occasion." The groom grinned, making a fine display of ivory, and answered: "All right, boss, it is customary to give the preacher $5 after the ceremony, but Ah will omit that on this occasion."

He had not seen her for months, and as they were greeting each other on the depot platform, Sheriff Owen, of Joplin, stepped up and arrested him. Mrs. Haskell fell prostrate on the depot platform.

DIET OF DIFFERENT RACES.

The Unfamiliar Fare of Those Who Have No Knowledge of Table Luxuries.

It is interesting to note the diet of people in different parts of the world. Among savages and uncivilized people, mostly raw foods are used. Little, if any, cooking is done. They generally subsist upon fruits, nuts, raw meats and fish, says Medical Talk for the Home.

The Eskimau live almost entirely upon meat. The most important part of their diet is fat and oil. Sometimes they eat lichens, which they obtain from the stomach of the reindeer. The flower of the Arctic poppy is sometimes used as food, but very rarely. They have no regular time for eating, but eat whenever they can procure the food.

The Indians of the temperate and tropic zones have a larger variety of foods. Fruits, nuts, wild vegetables, fish, wild fowl, and other games are used by them as food. The negroes of the southern states have a very scant diet. It consists principally of fat, salt pork, cornmeal and molasses. Their cooking is done in the crudest sort of way. The cornmeal is mixed with water and baked on the flat surface of a hoe or griddle. The pork is sliced thin and fried. Molasses is sometimes added to the fat and eaten with the cornbread. The favorite beverage consists of hot water sweetened with molasses. This is generally the diet three times a day during the year. Sometimes, however, turnips are boiled with the bacon for a change. It is a great treat when they have an opossum. This is generally baked with sweet potatoes and seasoned with red pepper. Nearly all their meats are fried. It is noticeable among these people that many of them suffer from indigestion, which is perhaps due to their form of diet.

The Mexicans subsist almost entirely upon vegetables, which they raise themselves. Those who can afford it use flour and corn. Generally more corn is used than flour. One of the most important articles of their diet is the native bean, together with peas and lentils. Another favorite article of food with the Mexicans is red pepper or "chili." This is probably used more for its stimulating effect upon the digestive organs than for any nutrition which it contains. Lard is sometimes purchased and used in considerable quantities with vegetable foods; also beef tallow. The cooking is generally done in an open fireplace. The beans are cooked in earthenware pots with a large amount of "chili" and lard added. The poor families in Mexico serve the meals on the floor in the middle of the room. They have neither knives, forks nor spoons. The family sit on the ground around the food and eat from their hands.

First Temperance Law.
A license law appears prominently in the oldest known laws, those of Khamurabi, king of Babylon, which have recently been discovered and deciphered. In those days women, exclusively, it seems, were the saloonkeepers. The law is as follows: "If a wine merchant has not received corn as the price of drink, has received silver by the great stone, and has made the price of drink less than the price of corn, that wine merchant one shall put to death."—National Tribune.

Prizes for Good Roads.
One of the banks of Harrisonville will give $500 in prizes for the two best graded miles of road within a radius of four miles of Harrisonville. The farmers who grade the first best mile will receive $300 in gold and those who grade the second best $200 in silver.

John Quincy Adams makes a living fishing on the Grand river, and George Washington is a negro boy who is in jail at Columbia because he can't pay a $5 fine for stealing a gun.

Born in Jefferson City in 1833.
Mrs. Mary Moore, who recently died in Sedalia, was born in Jefferson City 70 years ago when her father, Maj. George White, was postmaster.

Two Women Appointed.
Mrs. Julia E. Watkins, of Osage county, was appointed matron of Lathrop hall, and Mrs. Marion Evans, of Boone county, was appointed housekeeper at Read hall, at the Missouri state university.

Slept With a Blacksnake.
On a hot night recently, J. E. Brockman, a farmer near Columbus, Johnson county, took a comfort and lay down in the yard. When he awoke next morning, he found a big blacksnake lying beside him.

What Was It?

Franklin, Miss., Aug. 3rd.—One of the strangest cases ever reported occurred here recently. The son of Mr. G. L. Butler was very ill. The doctor said he had some disease of the spinal cord, and treated him for two months, but he grew worse all the time, and finally the doctor told Mr. Butler that he did not know what was the trouble. The boy would wake up in the night and say that he was dying. He would be nervous and trembling and want to run out of the house, saying he saw ugly things which frightened him.

His father was very much discouraged till one day he saw a new remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised, and he at once bought some and began to give them to his boy. He used altogether eight boxes before he was entirely cured. He has not been troubled since. Mr. Butler says: "I feel it my duty to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for my boy. All this remedy needs is a fair chance and it will speak for itself."

The trouble with some people is that they allow themselves to be discouraged by criticism, and the trouble with others is that they do not.—Puck.

SUCH A MISUNDERSTANDING!

The Man Who "Rubbered" Was Not Familiar with Talk of the Railway.

"When I saw that she was almost beyond my control," said the railway engineer, "I 'rubbered' her over." "Brute!" ejaculated a gentleman wearing eye glasses and graying whiskers, who was unintentionally straining his ears to overhear the conversation, relates Judge.

"It didn't do any good," continued the engineer, "so I shut her off; but still she was jumping pretty hard and sliding around." "Infamous!" said the graying-whiskered man.

"Sliding around; so give her a shove," said the railway engineer. "Ah, then you have some little instinct of kindness," growled the incensed listener. "But it wasn't any use, and so I jumped and got away just when she began to smash things."

"And I don't blame her one bit!" asserted the man with the eye glasses and the graying beard. "It's a pity she didn't smash you, so you couldn't come here and boast of your cruelty. I am not surprised at the number of divorces nowadays."

No Free Advice.
"I'm afraid my hay fever is coming on," said Kloseman, trying to get some medical advice free of charge. "Every once in a while I feel itching in my nose and then I sneeze. (What would you do in a case like that, doctor?"

"I feel pretty sure," replied Dr. Sharpe, "that I would sneeze, too."—Philadelphia Record.
